When interest rates fall, the durables category tends to resume growth

Growth of e-commerce GMV per category vs interest rates
[Base 100 = 1Q18; Average meta SELIC]

Sales of traditional categories are more sensitive to the movement of interest rates - telephones and technology show a drop from 2022

Sales of non-traditional / long-tail categories are more resistant to the volatility of interest rates

Over the last 4 years, total sales grew an average of 27% per year, reaching R$ 14.7 billion in 2Q23

Magalu has a defensible product mix with less exposure to new cross-border rules. Only 3% of our GMV is derived from families susceptible to cross-border competition.

At risk families: lower ticket items, in families with low brand penetration, with cubic volumes conducive to air transport

Truly multichannel fulfillment

Faster delivery

- The same vehicle that supplies the physical stores also transports 1P and 3P e-commerce items, items for in-store pick-up, and delivers to customers' homes

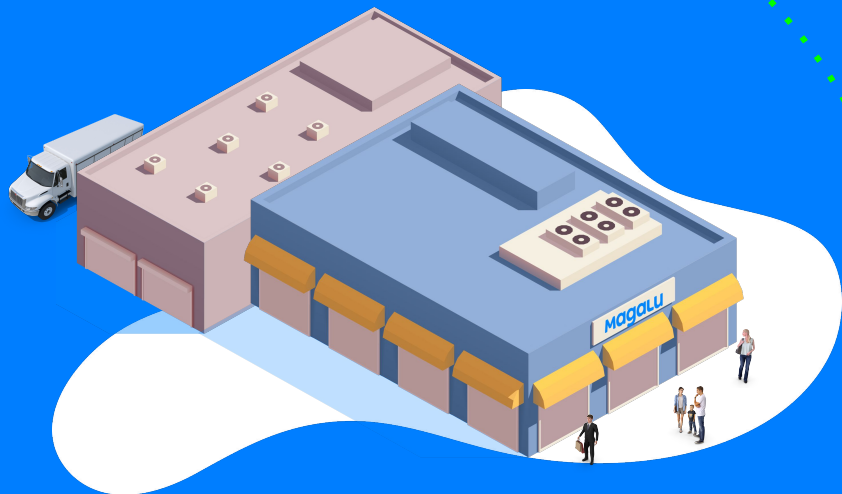

Lower costs

- Shared infrastructure, already optimized to handle light and heavy items
- Fulfillment operating costs are spread across our current distribution centers with no investment required for expansion

Example: Louveira distribution center

- storing +30,000 products from sellers, occupying only 7% of the total area
- +70% of the light products shipped from this distribution center are from the marketplace
- +25% cost savings compared to other models
- +25% average conversion rate of stored products

Our physical stores play a fundamental role in making the marketplace multichannel, providing our partners with value added logistics services
